Dear Students,

This workbook has been designed to assist you to reflect on the rule of law principles while you witness open justice in action. We encourage you to make reference to the Rule of Law Wheel (see next page) throughout the experience and identify where you see the principles in action (or not!) in the courts.

The Rule of Law is a foundation of Australian society. At its simplest it requires that we have laws that are followed and enforced.

The Rule of Law wheel demonstrates how different legal principles uphold the rule of law and ensure that no one is above the law and that the law is applied equally and fairly.

In Australia today, the rule of law requires that our legal system and government should provide:

- just outcomes when a person is brought before a court
- consistent, fair and impartial decisions about legal matters
- protection of individuals rights, freedoms, and
- ways to settle disputes between parties according to the law
- laws that are knowable, followable and fit for purpose.

“We can take for granted our relatively peaceful, law-abiding way of life ... We have courts where people will receive procedural fairness where the decision will be made on the merits and where there are rights of review by way of appeal or judicial appeal. It is very easy to take those things for granted, so educating people about what we broadly refer to as the rule of law is important because it means that people understand what binds the community together in a way that which is not necessarily obvious but is there as a constant in our functioning democracy.”

- The Honourable A.S. Bell, Chief Justice of Supreme Court New South Wales in his interview with the Rule of Law Education Centre

Please be respectful and courteous whilst you observe justice in action. Keep in mind that for many people in Court, this is one of the most stressful times of their lives. Please remember to abide by the protocols and security requirements at all times. These are outlined in your information sheet given to you by your teacher prior to this visit.

Self-care is important during and after this experience. If you see or hear anything confronting that bothers you, or that you can't stop thinking about, approach a trusted teacher, your parents or guardians or make an appointment with a counsellor. Alternatively, you can call Kids Helpline on 1800 55 1800 or Beyond Blue on 1300 22 4636.

We hope you enjoy your experience at the courts!
